Speaker Report for 14 January 2026
Katharine Watson – Christchurch Archaeology Project

We were fortunate to have Katharine speak to our Club and the Cashmere Rotary Club for the first meeting of 2026.

Katharine was a dynamic speaker and is totally passionate about her work. She began her self-employment as a Consultant Archaeologist in 2000, at 23 years of age. Her studies took her to Otago University 1995-1998 – BA (Honours) in Anthropology and 1999-2000 MA Anthropology. She also attended University of Canterbury and achieved Doc of Philosophy in history 2018-2022. and in addition Institute of Directors in NZ Not-for-profit Governance Essentials in 2024. Katharine was one of the only working Archaeologists in Christchurch for 10 years. A lot of her work was in response to legislation that protects archaeological sites in NZ and all relating to the European settlement of the City, and items relating to the everyday life in 19th Century Christchurch.

Katharine started up her consulting company Underground Overground Archaeology and when the earthquakes struck she and her team were heavily involved in retrieving and recording items they unearthed from demolished buildings in the central city. There are some half a million artefacts relating to these demolitions and the rebuilds that followed. She said that they are literally from the dustbin of history.

Katharine gave some amusing accounts about the “rubbish” problems in 19th century Christchurch including some reports from the Inspector of Nuisances. In 1863 Christchurch City Council began the first organised collection of rubbish in New Zealand.

After selling her business in 2017 she co-founded Christchurch Archaeology Project and hopes one day to open a museum of Archaeology in the central city. At the moment the museum is online and is searchable by the public.

Between 16-22nd February 2026 there is a free exhibition of some of these items at Christchurch Cathedral.
